

Ian King Joins Point Source team

Point Source Productions would like to announce the appointment of Ian King to the position of Business Development Manager.

A past student of Rose Bruford college where he graduated with a BA in Lighting Design in 2005, King has joined Point Source Productions following a period as a freelance lighting designer and production manager.

Involved with Point Source Productions since 1999 as a client, MD Stephen Capel spotted King's potential and decided it was time to bring his talents into the Point Source team.

King's primary responsibilities will be to take charge of special projects and installations and to field hire calls. His first project has been to design and implement an online ordering system for Point Source Productions' sister company, Alvin Key Clamps, which has just been successfully launched at www.alvinkeyclamps.co.uk
